

World Series Opens Tuesday Keen Competition Expected

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 4.—The speaker, manager of the Cleveland Indians, winners of the American league pennant, had his team at League park this morning for a conference, during which he formulated a mode of attack against the Brooklyn Dodgers, the National league champions, in the coming world's series. The team arrived from Detroit last night and will leave for Brooklyn tonight, accompanied by many fans.

Although Speaker would not announce definitely his pitching strategy in the first game tomorrow, it is likely that Jim Bagby, who won 31 games for the Indians this season, may be called upon. Stanley Coveleskie and Walter Mills both are ready and may be called upon if Speaker does not think Bagby has had sufficient rest.

Should Manager Robinson start one of his left handers in the box against Cleveland, Speaker may send his right handed hitting crew, which worked successfully in the Detroit and St. Louis series, into the lineup. That would mean George Burns on first, batting in the cleanup position, with Joe Wood in right field.

About 55 per cent of those fortunate enough to get tickets to the games to be played here were notified of their reservations today. S. S. Edwards, vice president of the Cleveland club, announced that the remainder probably would be notified by tomorrow morning. Special arrangements have been made in the postoffice to speed up the delivery of all letters containing orders for tickets to the world's series.

As a precaution against speculators, each envelope is stamped with a serial number corresponding to the number of the application blank inside, received.

MAXON ARRIVES FOR KELLER GO UTAH GRIDDERS START CAMPAIGN

Eastern Scrapper in Pink of Condition for His 15-Round Battle

SALT LAKE, Oct. 4.—Coach Tommy Fitzpatrick and his football warriors are hard at it these days, in preparation for one of the hardest grid campaigns that the crimsonables have ever tackled. To date four trips are scheduled for the football aggregation at the state institution, the most recent being to the University of Utah. On October 16, the University aggregation travels to Colorado Springs, where they tackle the Colorado College Tigers, one of the hardest teams in the conference to trim on their own lot. And in addition to that, the Tigers are expected to have an exceptionally fast team in the making at the present time, and Colorado Springs fans are warning the remainder of the conference elements to "look out."

Only a week after this game the University of California eleven will be the University opponents in Berkeley. Over three hundred men are out for the last aggregation, it being necessary for Coach Andy Smith to turn men away, due to lack of football tops. With this number to choose an eleven from, and having nine of his 1919 squad back in harness, the Californians are looking for one of the strongest eleven in the history of their football career.

The first home appearance of the Utah boys will occur on October 20, when the husky eleven from the University of Nevada will invade Utah territory. The Nevadans are reputed to have one of the strongest teams in the west this year, their scheduled trip to Hawaii calling many football stars back to school who otherwise would not have been in school this year. Furthermore, the Nevada institution does not recognize the freshmen ruling any more in school being eligible for the "Varsity" squad. This affords the Nevadans an opportunity to choose from many more candidates, besides giving them a chance to run a few "dark horses."

CHICAGO PLAYERS REGULATE PLAY SAYS BYRD LYNN

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Chargers that certain Chicago White Sox players regulated their playing this season by the score board—winning or losing, as the occasion demanded in order to keep the betting by Byrd Lynn and Percy McEllan, who said that "bench warmers" most of the season they had studied the players carefully and were convinced the Sox were "thrown" out of the pennant.

"We lost the pennant because certain players—they are among the eight indicted by the Cook county grand jury—didn't want to win the pennant," he added, "and we felt all along that these men were regulating their play according to the play of other teams."

No announcement has been given as to whether any of the White Sox players will be called before the grand jury when it reconvenes on Tuesday to continue the baseball inquiry.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR SEATS.
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Demand for seats to see the world's series first game, which will be played in Brooklyn tomorrow, far exceeds the capacity of their fields. It was announced today, thousands of applications will be returned by the club, it was said. The demand has been greater than that four years ago when the Superbas won the National league flag.

This Brother Stuff Doesn't Worry Johnston Boys From Tennessee

By DEAN SNYDER

There are more big league ball players who have brothers not playing professional baseball than those who have.

Just because a couple guys happen to have the same parents is no sign they are going to follow the same slant of earning a pile of dough.

Sometimes, however, this desire to emulate a big brother gets the results.

In the thick of the fight for pennants this year a pair of brothers have played big parts. They are the Johnston brothers from Dixie.

NOT SENTIMENTAL
Jimmy, the younger, and the outfielder whom Tony Clegg Wilbert made over into a crackin' good third sacker for the Superbas, would like nothing better than to play against first basemen of the bravehearted Speakerites. Two brothers have never battled each other in a world series.

"Tell 'Doc' to get a hustle on him" is the word Jimmy has sent over to the Indians' camp this summer.

"Tell Jimmy we're coming in all right" was the word "Doc" fired back.

These two Tennesseans have both had a hard battle to reach this climax of their lives.

GOING UP
As barefoot boys they played together, Jimmy, the younger, happened to have the best set of legs so he got his chance in organized ball two years ahead of "Doc," the elder.

Persistence and a desire to follow his brother kept "Doc" from losing heart and finally he got his chance. Jimmy's initial trial in the majors came in 1911 with the Chicago Americans and "Doc" ramblined into Cleveland in 1912. Both have been shifted around to other clubs at various times for further seasoning.

But 1920 has been the crown puff year for both.

"Doc" led the American League in hitting early this season and he bats good and bad by streaks now. He is the cut-up of the family. If Cleveland has a clown on the club, why, "Chattanooga Doc" gets the pose.

SAWS WOOD
Jimmy just saws wood and Manager Robinson figures he is smart enough to play most any old position on his ball club. Bringing the south-gamer into the program being played on the opponents' grounds.

LOSING NO SLEEP.
But after everything is scrutinized, the University of Utah supporters are losing no sleep during these cool nights, as the University has an array of stars in its line-up, who would look good on almost any gridiron in the west. Thirty men have reported for practice so far, and as school has only a few days more, many more men are expected to don the moosehairs before this week is completed.

Among some of the letter men who have reported to us so far, are: Warren Glimmer, tackle on last year's squad; Harvey Hancock, center in 1919; Walter Silver, sub-center; "Pipe" Gardner, backfield; "Spot" Tre, backfield; Stubby Gray, backfield; Jensen, end, McEwan, all conference tackle in 1919; "Dutch" Riches, guard; Lee Prouse, end and Merlin Stevenson, backfield, all letter men of 1919, are expected to put in an appearance in the next few days, bringing to the total of letter men up around the ten mark. In addition to these old men, many freshmen are out for the squad, and many of the former letter men will, no doubt, be replaced by the 1919 infant stars, who were brilliant performers last season.

Among the most notable football stars coming up from the freshman class are: Oswald, halfback; Ferguson, backfield; Romney, backfield; Pyke, backfield; Gorinski, end, and Clark, linebacker. All of these youngsters showed to good advantage for the milkkins last year, and are expected to help in forming the nucleus of a wonderful machine for the University this year.

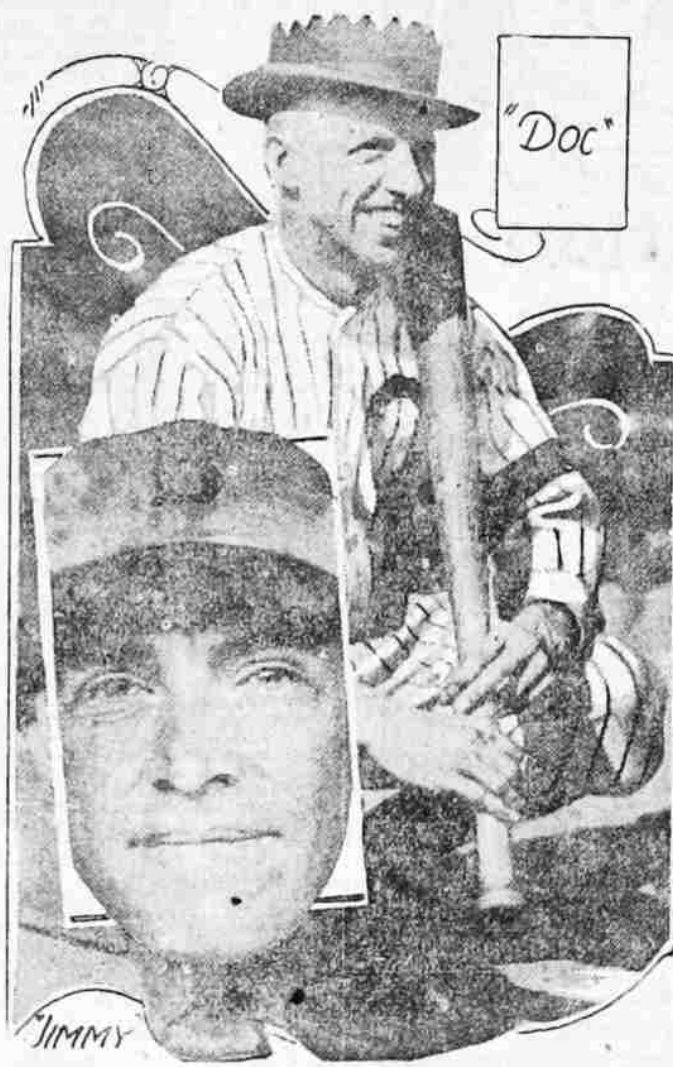

Light workouts have been "in vogue" during the past few nights, but Coach Fitzpatrick has given the men warning that the training season is now in force, and the first man caught breaking the rules as laid down by the scrappy little mentor, will be requested to hand in his suit. No man, no matter how good he may be, will be tolerated as long as he does not know the meaning of the word "train."

Efforts are being directed toward arranging a game for October 3, to be played on Cummins field, and if such plans materialize, some moonlight workouts will be the custom, during the week.
